1 2. Wells Fargo Bank, N.A., as Trustee for the Holders of the Merrill Lynch 2 Mortgage Investors Trust, Mortgage Loan Asset-Backed Certificates, Series 2006-WMC1 (the 3 "REMIC", "2006-WMC1" or "Wells") is an unscheduled creditor who failed to file a timely 4 proof of claim and is not a "party in interest" in Debtors bankruptcy. Pursuant to In re Marshall 5 supra: Scheduled creditor who had failed to file proof of claim remained "party in interest" with 6 standing to object to debtors' proposed Chapter 11 plan and to move to dismiss case based on 7 debtors' alleged lack of good faith. Bankr. Code, 11 U.S.C.A. §§ 1109(b), 1112(b). See In re 8 Marshall, supra. In Debtors case, Wells was not a scheduled creditor and is not even a party in 9 interest.

10 3. Principal purpose of debtor's bankruptcy schedules in Chapter 11 case is to 11 inform creditors of nature of debtor's assets and liabilities so that they will have enough 12 information to decide whether they want to engage in further inquiry, and minor errors which do 13 not create deceptive impression or result in other prejudice should not be basis for limiting 14 debtor's rights. See In re Marshall, supra.

15 4. 2006-WMC1 is not a creditor in the above captioned bankruptcy and failed to 16 timely file a claim prior to the bar date of April 7, 2014. 2006-WMC1 seeks by trickery or deceit 17 to achieve standing by attaching themselves to the claim of another in a brazen attempt to educe 18 Subject Matter Jurisdiction on their behalf. There simply is no writing attached to Claim 5 19 establishing a relationship between the two parties (as partners, principal/agent, attorney in fact, 20 or any other type of relationship, joinder or mis-joinder). See Rule §§ 7018, 7019, 7020 and 21 7021. The Court should sever the REMICs unfounded claims as a secured creditor who timely 22 filed Claim 5. Additionally and alternatively the Court should require Wells to file an 23 interpleader as Debtor is subject to double or multiple liability by allowing one party to file a 24 Proof of Claim and another party that does not file a Proof of Claim but advocates their position 25 as a secured creditor. See Federal Rules of Civil Procedure Rule § 22. The claims of Nationstar 26 and the REMIC are adverse, lack a common origin and/or are adverse and independent AND the 27 Debtor denies liability in whole and in part to Nationstar and to the REMIC.

28

CONSEQUENCES OF NON-COMPLIANCE WITH RULE 3001(c)

5. Failure to comply with Rule 3001(c) results in the following:

A. First, the [creditor] does not enjoy the Rule 3001(f) evidentiary effect of a claim that is filed in accordance with the Rules.

B. The second consequence is that a proof of claim that does not comply with the [requirements] of Rule [3001(c)] is subject to sanctions under Rule 3001(c)(2)(D).

C. "the Debtor had the right to expect that she would have been properly informed of the actual amount of attorney fees and the nature and amount of other expenses that were improperly lumped in with the attorney fees on the Bank's Claim."

D. Nonetheless, she had a right to have correct information provided in the Bank's Claim and Rule 3001(c)(2)(D) provides that the Court may invoke an appropriate sanction on account of the Bank's failure to comply.

E. The Rule permits the Court to exclude information omitted from the Bank's Claim as evidence at trial. FED. R. BANKR. P. 3001(c)(2)(D)(i). Accordingly, the Court will deny admission of the omitted information.

See IN RE JIMENEZ, 487 B.R. 543 (Bankr. D. Colo. 2013).

CLAIM BASED ON A WRITING

6. "Moreover, because a deed of trust is a contract, the courts will construe it, together with the note and any agreement of sale, [PSA/A&A¹³] using rules of contract interpretation"¹⁴. The Pooling and Servicing Agreement should have been attached to Claim 5. Written authorization to file Claim 5 pursuant to the PSA section 10.08 ¶ 3¹⁵ should have been attached to Claim 5. Wells Fargo Bank as Trustee of a different trust was previously warned on this issue on April 25, 2008, see In Re Nosek:

“That may be true but proofs of claim filed under a written power of attorney MUST have the power of attorney attached. Fed. R. Bankr. P. 3001 and Official Form 10. No part of the [Pooling and Servicing] agreement was attached to the proof of claim. It is worth repeating as a warning to lenders and servicers that the rules of this Court apply to them. Their private agreements and the frenzied trading market for mortgages do not excuse compliance with the Bankruptcy Rules any more than they would justify ignoring the Bankruptcy Code.”

7. To the extent the note and Deed of Trust attached to Claim 5 were ever part of a REMIC trust governed by the laws of the state of New York, the following reference to the Pooling and Servicing Agreement and New York Law is relevant. Debtor requests this court take ¹³ “PSA” means Pooling and Servicing Agreement, and “A&A” means the Assignment and Assumption Agreement (also known as the Mortgage Loan Purchase Agreement).

¹⁴ MILLER & STARR, supra note 249, § 10:5

¹⁵ See Ensminger declaration ¶ 33

1 judicial notice of the use of foreign law under Federal Rules of Evidence, Rule 201 (c)(2): "The 2 court must take judicial notice if a party requests it and the court is supplied with the necessary 3 information." Debtor evidences that the foreign situs of the REMIC Trust is set in the state of 4 New York (see Ensminger Declaration ¶ 52 filed with Debtors Motion to Disallow Proof of 5 Claim 5, where PSA is defined in ¶ 44), as such, the laws under New York's "EPTL" section, 6 particularly at section 7-2.4, must be applied as it relates to the trusts' standing, both prudentially 7 and constitutionally. Debtor raises these issues as a threshold matter and asks this court to take 8 such judicial notice in making a determination as to the REMIC's (Merrill Lynch Mortgage 9 Investors Trust, Series 2006-WMC1) standing under its foreign laws that govern its existence 10 and standing.

11 8. The Note attached to Claim 5 is not a negotiable instrument, thus the requirements 12 of UCC Article IX apply. The missing Pooling and Servicing Agreement is governed by the 13 laws of the State of New York, thus UCC Article IX provisions of the State of New York would 14 control any secured transaction pursuant to the PSA. CA. Commercial Code Article IX would 15 apply to any other secured transaction. To the extent the transaction is a single transaction 16 pursuant to the Single Transaction and Step Transaction Doctrine, where the borrower is the 17 Debtor and creditors are investors who paid money for the loan, there is no documentation 18 between the parties¹⁶. The terms of the Pooling and Servicing Agreement, Assignment and 19 Assumption Agreement and other governing documents (hereinafter "Governing Documents") 20 and the terms of the note and deed of trust do not apply. To the extent the Court determines they 21 do apply, the Borrower accepted terms under the note and deed of trust which were different 22 from the terms the investors accepted in the governing documents for 2006-WMC1. Debtor is an 23 intended party to the transaction (PSA). Numerous provisions of the PSA confer benefits to 24

25 _____
 26 ¹⁶ The step transaction doctrine originated from a common law principle in Gregory v. Helvering, 293 U.S. 465 27 (1935) that allowed the court to re-characterize a tax-motivated transaction.; "As early as 1938, the United States Supreme Court has indicated that "a given result at the end of a straight path is not made a different result because reached by following a devious path." Commissioner v. Clark, 489 U.S. 726, 738 (1989).; (Shuwa Investments Corp.
 28 v. County of Los Angeles (1991) 1 Cal.App.4th 1635, 1648-1649. Shuwa, supra, at p. 1648.; McMillin-BCED/Miramar Ranch North v. County of San Diego (1995) 31 Cal.App.4th 545, 556.)

1 Debtor whereby Debtor is, at a minimum, an incidental beneficiary or intended 3rd party 2 beneficiary.

3 9. Although the “beneficiary” is not defined by statute, court decisions fill the gap 4 and hold that the beneficiary is the party to the deed of trust that is owed the debt and whose 5 economic interests are at risk when the existence or priority of the deed of trust is challenged.
6 See Monterey S.P. P’ship v. W.L. Bangham, Inc., 777 P.2d 623, 627 (Cal. 1989) (en banc).

STANDING

8 10. "For a federal court to have jurisdiction, the litigant must have constitutional 9 standing, which requires an injury fairly traceable to the defendant's allegedly unlawful conduct 10 and likely to be redressed by the requested relief." In re Jacobson, 402 B.R. 359, 366 (Bankr.
11 W.D. Wash. 2009) (citing United Food & Commercial Workers Union Local 751 v. Brown 12 Group, Inc., 517 U.S. 544, 551 (1996)).

13 11. Constitutional standing, which is based on the "case or controversy" requirement 14 under Article III, § 2 of the U.S. Constitution, cannot be waived as it is "a threshold jurisdictional 15 requirement." See id. at 367(citing Pershing Park Villas Homeowners Ass'n V. United Pac. Ins.
16 Co., 219 F.3d 895, 899-00 (9th Cir. 2000)). The United States Supreme Court recently held that 17 in order to meet this jurisdictional requirement, an assignee of a claim must hold legal title to the 18 claim being asserted. Sprint Commc'n's Co. v. APCC Services, Inc., 554 U.S. 269, 128 S. Ct.
19 2531, 171 L.Ed.2d 424 (2008). Nationstar is named as the creditor of Claim 5 and an alleged 20 representative of Nationstar signed Claim 5. No writing attached to Claim 5 supports Nationstars 21 bald assertion that it is a creditor, and documents filed by 2006-WMC1 state that it is the creditor 22 and that it timely filed Claim 5, thus contradicting Nationstars claim. 2006-WMC1 is not named 23 as the creditor or claimant to Claim 5. The issue of determining which, if any of the two 24 creditor's names applies to Claim 5 is ripe because the facts of the case have matured into an 25 existing substantial controversy warranting judicial intervention. Without this intervention the 26 Court will not be able to determine Nationstar or Wells standing before this Court.

1 12. The concept of standing involves more than constitutional standing. It involves 2 two inquiries. See Franchise Tax Bd. v. Alcan Aluminum, 493 U.S. 331, 335, 110 S.Ct. 661, 107 3 L.Ed.2d 696 (1990) ("We have treated standing as consisting of two related components: the 4 constitutional requirements of Article III and nonconstitutional prudential considerations."); 5 Warth v. Seldin, 422 U.S. 490, 498, 95 S.Ct. 2197, 2204, 45 L.Ed.2d 343 (1975). In the first, as 6 set forth above, the court must ask whether the plaintiff or moving party has suffered sufficient 7 injury to satisfy the "case or controversy" requirement of Article III. A suit brought by a plaintiff 8 or relief sought by a moving party without Article III standing is not a "case or controversy," and 9 an Article III federal court therefore lacks subject matter jurisdiction over the suit. Steel Co. v.
 10 Citizens for a Better Environment, 523 U.S. 83, 101-04 (1998). In that event, the suit should be 11 dismissed under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b)(1). Warren v. Fax Family Worldwide, 12 Inc., 328 F.3d 1136, 1140 (9th Cir.2003); Scott v. Pasadena Unified Sch. Dist., 306 F.3d 646, 13 664 (9th Cir.2002).

14 13. Beyond this "irreducible constitutional minimum of standing," the court must 15 engage in a second inquiry to determine whether the plaintiff or moving party is properly able to 16 assert a particular claim. Lujan v. Defenders of Wildlife, 504 U.S. 555, 560, 112 S.Ct. 2130, 119
 17 L.Ed.2d 351 (1992); Franchise Tax Bd. v. Alcan Aluminum, 493 U.S. 331, 335, 110 S.Ct. 661, 18 107 L.Ed.2d 696 (1990); Dunmore v. U.S., 358 F.3d 1107, 1112 (9th Cir. 2004). Frequently, this 19 inquiry requires an analysis of whether a statute under which the plaintiff or moving party asserts 20 a claim has conferred "standing" on the plaintiff or moving party. In such cases, non-21 constitutional or "prudential" standing exists when "a particular plaintiff has been granted a right 22 to sue by the specific statute under which he or she brings suit." See City of Sausalito v. O'Neill, 23 386 F.3d 1186, 1199 (9th Cir.2004); see also Valley Forge Christian Coll. v. Americans United 24 for Separation of Church and State, Inc., 454 U.S. 464, 474-75, 102 S.Ct. 752, 760, 70 L.Ed.2d 25 700 (1982) (discussing other "prudential principles" such as refraining from adjudicating 26 "generalized grievances," and requiring the complaint to fall within "the zone of interests to be 27 protected or regulated"). In other instances, a statute or rule of law may restrict the assertion of a

28

1 claim to a certain universe of parties. This restriction includes the requirement of Federal Rule of 2 Civil Procedure 17(a)(1) that "an action must be prosecuted in the name of the real party in 3 interest." See In re Wilhelm, 407 B.R. 392, 398 (Bankr. D. Idaho 2009) (stating that the 4 requirement of Rule 17 "generally falls within the prudential standing doctrine."); The restriction 5 may also be based on state law, See Elk Grove Unified Sch. Dist. v. Newdow, 542 U.S. 1, 124 6 S.Ct. 2301, 159 L.Ed.2d 98 (2004) (non-custodial parent who is barred under state law from 7 suing as his or her child's "next friend" lacks prudential standing to bring a First Amendment 8 challenge to a school board's policy requiring teacher-led recitation of the Pledge of Allegiance); 9 15 James Wm. Moore, et al., Moore's Federal Practice - Civil 101.51[1][e] (3d ed. 2011) ("State 10 laws may operate to deprive a prospective plaintiff of prudential standing in federal court.").
 11 Generally, a party without legal rights to enforce an obligation under applicable substantive law 12 lacks prudential standing. Doran v. 7-Eleven, Inc., 524 F.3d. 1034, 1044 (9th Cir. 2008). If a 13 party has suffered sufficient injury to satisfy the jurisdictional standing requirement of Article 14 III, but the party cannot satisfy the applicable prudential standing requirement(s), the party 15 cannot state a claim upon which relief can be granted. Guerrero v. Gates, 357 F.3d 911, 920-21 16 (9th Cir. 2003). In that event, the claim for relief should be dismissed under Federal Rule of Civil 17 Procedure 12(b) (6). Id. at 920-21.

18 REMICS AND FEDERAL TAX LAW

19 14. Federal tax law does not rely upon the state-law definition of ownership, but it 20 looks to state law to determine parties' rights, obligations, and interests in property. See, e.g., 21 Burnet v. Harmel, 287 U.S. 103, 110 (1932). 2006-WMC1 is a REMIC Trust. The tax definition 22 of ownership, and thus standing, applies to mortgage notes claimed as assets of the subject 23 REMIC trust. See Bradley T. Borden & David J. Reiss, Beneficial Ownership and the REMIC
 24 Classification Rules, 28 TAX MGMT. REAL EST. J. 274 (Nov. 7, 2012). Tax law can also 25 disregard the transfer (or lack of transfer) of formal title where the transferor retains many of the 26 benefits and burdens of ownership. See Bailey v. Comm'r, 912 F2d 44, 47 (2d Cir. 1990). Courts 27 focus on whether the benefits and burdens of ownership pass from one party to another when 28

1 considering who is the owner of property for tax purposes. Grodt & McKay Realty, Inc. v.
 2 Comm'r, 77 T.C. 1221, 1237 (1981). The analysis of ownership does not merely look to the 3 agreements the parties entered into because the label parties give to a transaction does not 4 determine its character. See Helvering v. Lazarus & Co. 308 U.S. 252, 255 (1939). The analysis 5 must examine the underlying economics and the attendant facts and circumstances to determine 6 who owns the mortgage notes for tax purposes. See id. The court in In re Kemp documents in 7 painful detail how Countrywide failed to transfer possession of a note to the pool backing a 8 Mortgage Backed Security (MBS) so that Countrywide failed to comply with the requirements 9 necessary for the mortgage to comply with the REMIC rules. See In re Kemp, 440 F.R. 624 10 (Bkrtcy D.N.J. 2010). Respondent and 2006-WMC1 in this case appear to have done exactly 11 what was adjudicated in Kemp, failure to sufficiently show a timely transfer that complied with 12 the strict language of the trusts' Agreements. Not only that, but Claim 5 fails to include any of 13 the trusts agreements, these are writings that are required to prove their claim.

14 15. Kemp addressed the issue of enforceability of a note under the UCC for 15 bankruptcy purposes. See In re Kemp, 440 B.R. 624 (Bkrtcy D.N.J. 2010). The court in that case 16 held that a note was unenforceable against the maker of the note and the maker's property under 17 New Jersey law on two grounds. The court held that because the beneficial owner of the note, the 18 Bank of New York (the trustee of a pool of mortgages that backed an MBS that included the 19 mortgage at issue in the case), did not have verifiable, timely possession and because the note 20 lacked proper endorsement upon sale (this is the same standard in California), the note was 21 unenforceable. Recognizing that the mortgage note came within the UCC definition of 22 negotiable instrument, the court then considered who is entitled to enforce a negotiable 23 instrument but held that no such person was a party in Kemp. As the Kemp court notes, “[f]rom 24 the maker's standpoint, it becomes essential to establish that the person who demands payment of 25 a negotiable note, or to whom payment is made, is the duly qualified holder. Otherwise, the 26 obligor is exposed to the risk of double payment, or at least to the expense of litigation incurred 27 to prevent duplicative satisfaction of the instrument. These risks provide makers (Debtor in this case) with a recognizable interest in demanding proof of the chain of title" (specifically referring to the trust participants). 440 B.R. at 631 (quoting Adams v. Madison Realty & Dev., Inc., 853 F.2d 163, 168 (3d Cir. N.J. 1988). And because the originator did not comply with the legal niceties, the beneficial owner of the debt, the trustee, cannot file its proof of claim either.

5 16. A “debt” is a liability on a claim. 11 U.S.C. § 101(12). The Debtor, Ensminger, 6 does not admit that he owes a debt based on the counterfeit and forged Note exhibited with 7 Claim 5. Merely producing an un-authenticated counterfeit and forged note with a claim of its 8 original character does not grant Respondent with automatic rights of a holder. See id.

9 17. A “creditor” is “an entity that has a claim against the debtor that arose at the time 10 of or before the order for relief concerning the debtor,” 11 U.S.C. § 101(10)(A), and a “claim” is 11 a “right to payment, whether or not such right is reduced to judgment.” 11 U.S.C. § 101(5)(A).
12 The Supreme Court has explained that the definition of “claim” is to be construed broadly, and 13 that a “right to payment” means “nothing more, nor less, than an enforceable obligation.” 14 Pennsylvania Dept. of Public Welfare v. Davenport, 495 U.S. 552, 559 (1990). “Absent an 15 overriding federal interest, the existence of a claim in bankruptcy is generally determined by 16 state law.” Cross, 218 B.R. at 78 (analyzing whether plaintiff had standing to bring § 17 523(a)(2)(A) action against chapter 7 debtor). State law applies in this instance because the 18 underlying transaction is purely commercial in nature and there is no apparent federal interest, 19 overriding or otherwise. Therefore, it is, and has been, Respondent’s burden to prove, inter alia: 20 1) an enforceable obligation and that its ownership rights were derived from a timely transfer; 2) 21 a timely, statutorily competent, endorsement [IRC 860 et. Seq.]; and 3) timely acceptance of the 22 asset into the REMIC trust, or even that it acquired an obligation of Debtor.

CA. COMM. CODE / UCC ARTICLE IX

24 18. Under the Claim 5 exhibited promissory note at section 5, "Borrower's Right to 25 PrePay", the contract states that the borrower has "...the right to make payments of principal at 26 any time before they are due. A payment of principal only is known as a 'prepayment.' When I
27 make a prepayment, I will tell the Note Holder in writing that I am doing so." The Italicized

1 sentence of this Section constitutes an undertaking to do an act in addition to the payment of 2 money. Additionally in section 11 titled “Uniform Secured Note”, a Security Instrument adds 3 additional protections to the Note Holder. The Security Instrument attached to Claim 5 includes 4 additional undertakings that are required and are in addition to the payment of money (i.e.
5 borrower required to maintain insurance, borrower shall occupy the property, borrower shall not 6 allow the property to deteriorate, borrower is constrained in the use and handling of hazardous 7 substances on the property, etc.). Under 3-104(a)(3) of the UCC¹⁷, a promissory note cannot be 8 an instrument if it contains such an undertaking; the rules of negotiability apply only to 9 promises to pay money, not to other, non-monetary understandings. Sending a notice is an act “in 10 addition to the payment of money,” and the note’s language clearly constitutes an “undertaking” 11 to perform that act. Further the note attached to Claim 5 has an attached security instrument (also 12 in Claim 5) and both documents reference each other. They were not intended to exist 13 independently of each other. Thus, the instrument is not negotiable and the rules of Article 3 of 14 the UCC (including the holder-in-due-course protections) do not apply. See: UCC § 9-15 109(a)(3)¹⁸ states that Article 9 applies to any sale of a “promissory note,” which is defined in § 16 9-102(a)(65)¹⁹ as “an instrument that evidences a promise to pay a monetary obligation, [or] does 17 not evidence an order to pay . . .”

18 19. The alleged trust associated with Claim 5 has concealed one or more REMIC 19 elections²⁰.

HEARSAY

21 20. Claim 5 is simply hearsay with no evidentiary value whatsoever. Claim 5 is not 22 self-authenticating or valid pursuant to F.R.B.P. Rules §§ 902 or 902(10).

27 The Proof of Claim coversheet makes no reference to a trustee or indenture trustee, but the documents attached to 28 the claim reveal "Wells Fargo Bank, N.A., as Trustee for the Holders of the Merrill Lynch Mortgage Investors Trust, Mortgage Loan Asset-Backed Certificates, Series 2006-WMC1" (the "REMIC") is somehow involved in the claim.
The REMIC has stated that they timely filed Claim 5.
